Claims 1-8 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification as filed does not disclose "liquid crystal based display films" but rather merely disclosed that films could be bonded to liquid crystal displays. No disclosure that the films themselves were liquid crystal based is present nor is it disclosed how to make liquid crystal based films. This limitation is therefore new matter and furthermore is not enabled by the specification as filed. Furthermore applicants specification as filed does not disclose bonding two films together but rather appears at most to only disclose bonding a film to a liquid crystal display and applicants newly added limitation in claim 1 is therefore new matter.

Claims 1-8 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The term "optically active" as generally used in the chemical arts refers to a material which is achiral and as an overall reading of applicants specification indicates that this is not what is meant (no achiral material are disclosed) it is not clear what this term is intended to mean in the context of the instant invention.

The term "liquid crystal based display films" is unclear in that applicants remarks indicate a belief that support exists at page two of their specification in which a film which appears to be (?) for a liquid crystal display is disclosed and therefore it can not be determined if applicants are claiming adhered films which are intended to be used for liquid crystal displays or if applicants are claiming films which are liquid crystal based.

All rejections have been withdrawn based on applicants amendment.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
